Specification

The specification is objected for following reasons.

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed (see MPEP 606.01).

A new title such as ---PLASMA DISPLAY PANEL WITH CURVED PARTISAN WALL ---- is suggested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, applicant claims "a rear substrate in a plasma display panelcomprising...insulating substrate, data electrodes, partisan walls" etc. A "rear substrate" can not and does not comprise data electrode, partisan walls etc. From reading the specification and viewing drawings, it seems that it is the plasma display panel which includes elements such as an insulating substrate, data electrodes, and partisan walls and not the rear substrate. Similar situations also appear in claim 15. For example, in claim 15, applicant claim that first substrate comprising scanning electrodes, common electrodes, and dielectric layer. These elements on top of the first substrate and therefore the first substrate can not comprise these elements.

In claim 1, line 5, "the substrate" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-10, 15-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by Amemiya (US 6661170).

Regarding claims 1, 10, and 15, Amemiya discloses, in figures 2 and 5, a plasma display panel comprising a first substrate (transparent substrate 10), a scanning electrode (xa, ya) a common electrode (xb, yb), a dielectric layer (11), a second/rear/electrically insulating substrate (13), a plurality of data electrodes (D) spaced away from one another, a plurality of parallel extending partisan walls (35a), a phosphor layer (16), and a curved partisan wall (35b) by which partisan walls (at least one partisan wall and another partisan wall) are joined to each other in lengthwise direction.

Regarding claims 2 and 16, at least one partisan wall and another partisan wall of Amemiya are arranged adjacent to each other (see figure 5).

Regarding claims 3-5 and 17-18, in figure 5, the partisan walls of Amemiya include first, second, third, and fourth (or N partisan wall to be defined as positive integer) partisan walls where the first and third partisan walls are connected by a first curved partisan wall (between second and third partisan wall) and the second and fourth partisan walls are connected by a second curved partisan wall (between third and fourth partisan wall). The two curved partisan walls are intersecting each other.

As per claims 6-8 and 19-20, figure 5 of Amemiya also meets the conditions claimed in claimed 6-8 and 19-20 (note, even though one curved partisan wall continually connects partisan al walls in length direction, once section of curved partisan wall may be understood to connect any of partisan walls in length direction).

As per claim 9, the curved partisan wall of Amemiya is semi circular (see figure 5).
